Members Predict That Tariff Bills Will Be Passed in Less Than a Month.

TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 24.-Presidentelect Wilson anonunced today that the extra session of congress would be convened on Tuesday, April 1.

The governor declared that he had arrived at this decision as a result of a letter received today from Representative Underwood, Democratic house leader. "I have waited," said Mr. Wilson, "to learn just what the state of preparedness congress was in for the business of the new session."

rew session."

The governor said he had been corresponding with Mr. Underwood in this connection and had come to the conclusion that April: was the most favorable date. He intimated that the interval between March 4 and April: I might be devoted to caucuses and conferences.

Two editors of a Wall street newspaper called upon the President-elect today and urged that financial questions receive his earliest consideration. In discussing his talk with them afterward, Mr. Wilson said:

"Everybody is agreed that there should be currency reform as soon as possible."

INCOME TAX BILL COMING UP EARLY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—The extra-ession of congress, which President-lect Wilson announced today would be alled to meet April 1, will find a num-ier of tariff bills ready for its imme-late consideration and other general obticles mapped out for the new admin-stration. stration. The date received general approval in congress.

The letter from Democratic Leader Underwood, upon which Mr. Wilson based his decision to convene the session April 1, was sent after members of the ways and means committee had agreed that it would be possible to perfect several of the tariff bills by that time. Members of the committee predicted today that those measures would consume less than a month in passing the house and that there would be no marked division of opinion in the committee over the preparation of any of the bills.

The work thus far done by the committee will be reviewed by the new committee and the bills prepared in detail for submission to a full Democratic caucus immediately after the convening of congress.

Currency Problem.

Whether currency reform will be taken up remains a question upon which mem-bers of both houses are in doubt, but it is believed that President-elect Wilis believed that President-elect Wilon and the Democratic managers of the favoring the initiative by voting down a favoring the initiative by voting down a constitutional amendment to be submitted to the people at large in this state to determine whether they could propose constitutional amendments themselves. The light over the amendment carried to day's session up to 7 o'clock tonight.

The resolution was introduced by Representative Healy of Owyhee county and on final passage this morning was defeated through failure to secure a two-thirds vote of the house. A motion to reconsider was carried late today and for two hours the house engaged in a bitter controversy over the resolution. A call of the house was issued and missing members were taken from their supper tables and ordered to report. After an extended filluster the resolution was put to a vote a second time and defeated.

The senate passed the direct primaries bill, amending the present law requiring primaries to be held in this state at a later date and calling for party declaration. The bill will meet with bitter opposition in the house. The upper house also passed an anti-racetrack bill, making poolselling at races a misdemeanor. The Ryan public utilities bill was sent to the committee of the whole for amending primarile to changing the name of the Maho academy at Pocatello to the Idaho Technical college was also passed.

Governor Haines vetoed the Shattuck county treasurer bond bill and the Oversmith bill creating the Tenth judicial district.

Victims Entombed.

A faint "Viva Madero" from a small group of peons huddled with heads bared outside the frowning gates of the penioutside the frowning gates of the peni-tentiary was heard today as the final plaudits for the man who less than two-years ago rode triumphant through a city that strewed his path with flowers and thundered his name from the housetops. Federal soldiers with fixed bayonets dispersed the peons, and the body of Ma-dero, in a plain wooden casket, was borne on the shoulders of soldiers to the French cemetery, where it was placed in French cemetery, where it was placed in its temporary resting place in a mausoleum.

Shortly afterward the body of Suarez was removed to the Spanish cemetery and temporarily entombed.

It was learned late tonight that the government has refused permission for the transfer of the bodies of Madero and Suarez, respectively, to Coahuila and Yucatan, giving as a reason that it does not desire to afford the people of these states an excuse for demonstrations.

Explanations Are Lame.

It is difficult to explain the death of Madero and Suarez and the immediate dissection of the bodies is problematical in view of the developments of today. The bodies of the two murdered statesmen were found lying in the rear of the penitentiary. Red stains marked the spot. This fact being incompatible with the first official version of the affair, the government today promulgated a new official version. The first version had stated that the bodies lay at a point two-thirds of the way between the palace and the prison.

thirds of the way between the palace and the prison.

Now it is explained that the automobiles ran along the side of the road and that Madero and Suarez jumped out and were running when they were caught between the fire of the rural guard escorting the prisoners and their assailants. In this way the government accounts for wounds being inflicted on the victims from front and back.

Contradicting both of these versions, however, is that of an eye-witness of the tragedy.

False Announcement.

The announcement had gone forth early in the evening that Madero and Suarez already had been conveyed to the penitentiary. Two hours before the shooting the populace, or those of the people who remained in the streets, believed that Madero was at last assured of a fair trial. He had been taken to the prison for safer keeping.

Before 11 o'clock the lights of the palace went out and it was believed that the day and its events had been officially ended.

There is one man, however, who lincially ended.

There is one man, however, who lingered near the palace, viewing the magnificent building and its battle scars and watching the sentries.

Suddenly, a few minutes after 11 o'clock, the doors of the war department swung open and two automobiles sped into the Calle Mondae.

In one machine was the short-bearded Madero, sitting erect in the rear seat. Beside him sat Major Juan Cardenas of the Seventh rurales. Another officer sat beside the chauffeur.

In the other car was Jose Pino Suarez, with two officers and a uniformed chauffeur.

No One in Sight.

The course of the dying automobiles could be easily followed. The plaza was deserted and there were no vehicles in the adjacent street. The moon made the plaza and its environs a bright expanse of white flagging.

The automobiles followed the Calle Mondae several blocks and then whirled down a side street, coming out on the Calle Lecumbarra. At the end of the Calle Lecumbarra is the front entrance of the penitentiary.

The automobiles did not enter the prison at the front entrance, and in less than one minute after the machines reached the end of the street shots were heard from behind the penticultary.

Impetus was given to the senate reorganization fight today by the fixing of the opening date for the session. Senate Democrats prominent in the reorganization movement are now canvassing the situation with a view to calling a

Madero and Suarez were dead.

Passed Prison Gate.

Examination of the automobile tracks showed that the machines had turned abruptly to the left after reaching the entrance to the prison and gone directly to the north end of the penitentiary. In view of this version of the shooting, given by a men who ran after the automobiles and saw the bodies carried out from the rear of the prison, an official explanation is made to the effect that the automobiles were run past the entrance to avoid Maderistas. The man who followed the automobiles declares he saw none but guards in front of the penitentiary. penitentiary

One charge that the authorities have not sought to explain away is that Madero and Suarez were shot at close range. A formal autopsy was held over the bodies, it is alleged, for the purpose of covering powdermarks and other indications that the men were shot at close range.

tions that the men were shot at close range.

Madero's hair, according to this report, was actually burned by the flames from the weapon that killed him. Subsequent examination of the body, it is said, showed that the hair had been cut away from the wounds. Clothing on the body of Suarez, was changed, it is charged, because his garments bore powder stains around the bullet holes.

Bold Statement Made.

There is no faith in the government's revised explanations. Everywhere is the secret conviction expressed today by the El Noticioso Mexicana, an independent paper, in the bold statement that "Madero and Suarez were executed with not even a sham attack to support the official report."

WILSON BELIEVES OFFICIAL VERSION

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 24 .- The Amerian embassador, Henry Lane Wilson, made the following statement tonight regarding the death of Madero and

In the absence of other reliable information, I am disposed to accept the government's version of the manner in which the ex-president and ex-vice president loss their lives. Certainly the violent deaths of these persons were without government approval, and if the deaths were the result of a plot, it was of restricted character and unknown to the higher officers of the government.

Mexican public opinion has accepted this view of the affair and it is not at all excited. The present government appears to be revealing marked evidence of activity, firmness and prudence, and adhesion to it, as far as I have been able to ascertain, is general throughout the republic, indicating the early restablishment of peace. MASCARENAS IS UNDER ARREST

EL. PASO, Tex., Feb. 24.—Manuel Mascarenas, Jr., who was appointed provisional governor of Sonora under the Orozco revolutionary organization, but did not serve, and who claims to have been named provisional governor by General Huerta, was arrested here this morning by United States federal authorities. He is named in the indictment issued at San Antonio against Vasquez Gomez and others, charging conspiracy.

Mascarenas was on his way to Mexico City to confer with Huerta regarding conditions in Sonora. As rebel provisional governor of the Mexican border state Mascarenas had accepted the party in power at Mexico City. The actual governor of Sonora, a Madero official, has rejected the Huerta government. Mascarenas has been in Los Angeles.

Military officials at Chihuahua city allege that evidence of a revolutionary plot has been secured against Governor Abraham Gonzales, jalled Saturday by order of General Rabago. A courier supposed to have been sent by the governor was captured and is said to have disclosed messages to the commanders of the state troops calling for a general revolt against the Huerta government. Augustin Ladansat, police commissioner under Gonzales, also was arrested.

Former Maderista troops at Suaz, near Chihuahua, have rebelled against the Huerta government and declare they will not permit traffic between Chihuahua and the border. They were at Suaz as a part of the guard for the Mexican Central railroad between Juarez and Chihuahua. This is the first open declaration of troops of the deposed president in northern Mexico. The Juarez Maderista followers still are under arms, but are guarded carefully by federals in the town.

ARRIVE AT HAVANA

HAVANA, Cuba, Feb. 24.—Three fugitive Mexican deputies, Adrian Aguiro Benavides, a nephew of the late President Francisco Madero; Cepero Rendon and Victor Maya, arrived here today on the steamship Experanza from Vera Cruz. According to their story, they fied from the Mexican capital to escape the application of "ley de fuga." or shooting of prisoners who attempt to escape. The three men boarded a train at Mexico City bound for Vera Cruz as soon as they learned that their arrest had been ordered. They expected to board the Cuban gunboat Cuba at Vera Cruz, but the arrival of the Experanza changed their plans.

Senor Benavides in an interview said: "Civilization is prostrate in Mexico and the United States alone is charged primarily with the responsibility for its restoration.

Transports Due.

In the maneuvers of 1911 it required two weeks' time to get some of the soldiers to Texas, but it is believed that this period can be cut in half at present. Even then the whole second division will almost certainly be at Galveston or vicinity some time before the necessary water transportation can be provided. The four army transports, all the government owns in eastern waters can only carry a brigade at most, and there are three brigades in this division. It will be necessary to charter from ten to diffeen merchant steamers of large size to accommodate the remaining two brigades. The quartermaster's department has a long list of available ships, but as it would cost on an average of $700 a day for each ship to keep them ready for service, the war department has avoided incurring any such large liability. So in all probability it will remain for the next administration to authorize this expensive outfit. expensive outfit.

The army transports Sumner, McClellan and Kilpatrick are due at Galveston tonight or tomorrow, and they will be joined within a day or two by the Meade, which was given to the navy department to carry a detachment of marines to Guantanamo, Cuba. With that mission performed, the Mcade will join the other transports at Galveston.

felt would probably be a good thing when applied to other industries, but if it were going to include railroad men he wanted the compensation increased to that now given voluntarily by the railroads.

J. L. Carmody of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen also said that the railroad men wished to be climinated from the provisions of the act, because they feared that it might conflict with the federal workingman's compensation act, which gave the workingmen a greater compensation than the proposed state law. He felt that the compensation named in the bill was much too low and urged that in cases of disability the payment be made in a lump sum rather than in weekly installments.

Ask Deliberation.

C. E. Allen and Harry S. Joseph, representing the mine owners, declared that while they favored the workingmen's compensation act, they felt that the matter had not been sufficiently considered and that before any such legislation were adopted a commission should be appointed to investigate the relations between capital and labor in Utah and the operation of employers' liability lays in other states, the commission to report back to the legislature two years from now recommendations relative to the matter.

Judge William H. King, representative of the casualty insurance and liability companies, spoke in behalf of the Rideout bill. He said the measure was progressive legislation that should be enacted. He deplored the fact that there was so much lost in litigation and such injustice in many of the verdicts in personal injury cases under the present law. He suggested some minor amendments to the bill and an amendment proposing the settlement of disputes as to the nature of injuries and the amount of compensation by a board of arbitration.

J. W. Beeler of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, not only was opposed to the application of the law to railroad men, but was opposed to the bills in their present form. He joined the mine owners in a request that legislation be deferred for two years. C. A.
